Systems Integration & Architecture

Greenlee Textron Success Story

Textron needed to enhance their ability to manage accounts receivable collections, disputes and deductions beyond that delivered by standard SAP functionality. Owing to its extensive functionality set and ease of use, Textron chose the Cforia software package for this purpose. Now they needed a means to rapidly integrate SAP and Cforia.

DataXstream Responds

In partnership with Cforia, DataXstream had already developed a packaged integration solution to rapidly connect the SAP and Cforia platforms. This solution, known as the Xstream Connector, enables near real-time data flow between the systems and was certified by SAP in February 2009.

The Connector was delivered to Textron and deployed using standard SAP software package techniques.

Textron Results

Textron was able to install the Connector in their development environment and have data flowing to a Cforia test instance in a matter of days. Migration of the Connector and associated configuration through the Textron landscape from development to production was accomplished using native SAP techniques and Textron's in-house change management processes.

Textron and DataXstream worked collaboratively to ensure that all testing was successful and no unexpected issues derailed progress.

Textron end users and IT support are thrilled with the results and pro-actively manage a multi-million dollar accounts receivable portfolio.

“There is one phrase that comes to mind as a result of working with the DataXstream Team and the Xstream Connector: Flawless Execution.

It has been a very pleasant experience working with them and I look forward to working with them on future projects.”
